Swimming Pool Safety

Teaching your child how to swim does not mean your child is safe in water. If you have a pool, protect your children by supervising them at all times and being prepared in case of an emergency -- and by following these pool safety tips from the American Academy of Pediatrics:

- Make sure adults are trained in life-saving techniques and CPR so they can rescue a child if necessary.
- Surround your pool on all four sides with a sturdy five-foot fence.
- Make sure the gates self-close and self-latch at a height children can't reach.
- Keep rescue equipment (a shepherd's hook -- a long pole with a hook on the end -- and life preserver) and a portable telephone near the pool.
- Avoid inflatable swimming aids such as "floaties." They are not a substitute for approved life vests and can give children a false sense of security.
- Children are not developmentally ready for swim lessons until after their fourth birthday. Swim programs for children under four should not be seen as a way to decrease the risk of drowning.
- Whenever infants or toddlers are in or around water, an adult should be within arm's length, providing "touch supervision."

Cold... Warm... Cold... SUMMER SUN

With warmer weather comes more precautions that we must take to protect ourselves, our children and our pets when outside. Sunscreen is always No. 1. It protects us from burns, skin cancer and early signs of aging. Second, we need to stay hydrated. Water is your best source for this. Fruit juices, soda, and energy drinks will only make you dehydrated, which can lead to heat stroke or death. Everyone loves the sun, but try to limit your time in it. Takes breaks in the shade from time to time. Speaking of shade, let's not forget our pets. Shade is critical for our animals when the temperatures are up, and water is just as critical. Our pets have just as much of a chance of heat stroke as we do if not properly hydrated. Let's be safe and smart this summer when playing in the sun.

Win a FREE trip to Gettysburg!

Cecil & Geiser is a proud supporter of Flying Horse Farms. Located in Mt. Gilead, Ohio, Flying Horse Farms is where children with serious illnesses come to experience the magic of camp. For a week at a time, being sick takes a backseat to simply being a kid.

This year Cecil & Geiser is a sponsor of the 2011 Flying Horse Ride benefiting Flying Horse Farms. As part of that we are going to hold a drawing for a free entry into the motorcycle ride. The ride is October 8 – 11, 2011. You will depart from the AMA Motorcycle Hall of Fame in Pickerington, OH where you will ride to Gettysburg, PA. The entry includes your registration fee, hotel accommodations, some meals, as well as several tours and other events.

To register for the drawing simply e-mail your name, address, and telephone number to info@protectingohio.com. All entries must be received no later than July 31, 2011.

For more details on the ride or Flying Horse Farms visit www.flyinghorsefarms.org.

Congratulations!

Congratulations to Robert Heidel! In May Cecil & Geiser, along with Flying Horse Farms, were invited to the Dierks Bentley Miles for Music pre-party at AD Farrow & Co. Robert stopped by our booth and entered to win a free entry into the 2011 Flying Horse Ride.
